Founding story

- BeReal was founded in 2019 in France by Alexis Barreyat and Kévin Perreau. The app officially launched in 2020 with the goal of creating a more authentic social media experience. Instead of encouraging carefully curated content, BeReal asks users to share one unfiltered photo each day during a random two-minute window using both the front and back cameras. The app became especially popular among Gen Z and college students in 2022.

Funding and Investors

BeReal raised $30 million in Series A funding in 2021 from investors including Andreessen Horowitz and Accel. In 2022, the company secured an additional $85 million in Series B funding led by DST Global, reaching a valuation of approximately $600 million. In 2024, BeReal was acquired by mobile gaming company Voodoo for roughly $500 million.

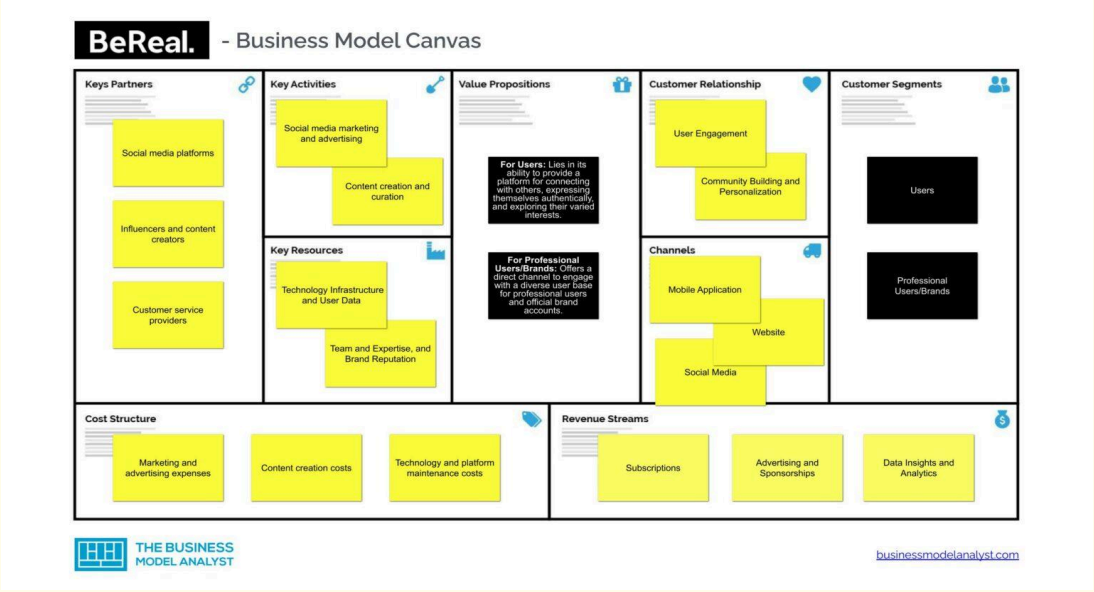

MAJOR INVESTORS

- Andreessen Horowitz (a16z)
- Accel
- DST Global

- Voodoo (current owner)

Business model

During its early years, BeReal focused on user growth rather than generating revenue and did not include ads or subscriptions. As the platform matured, it began introducing monetization strategies.

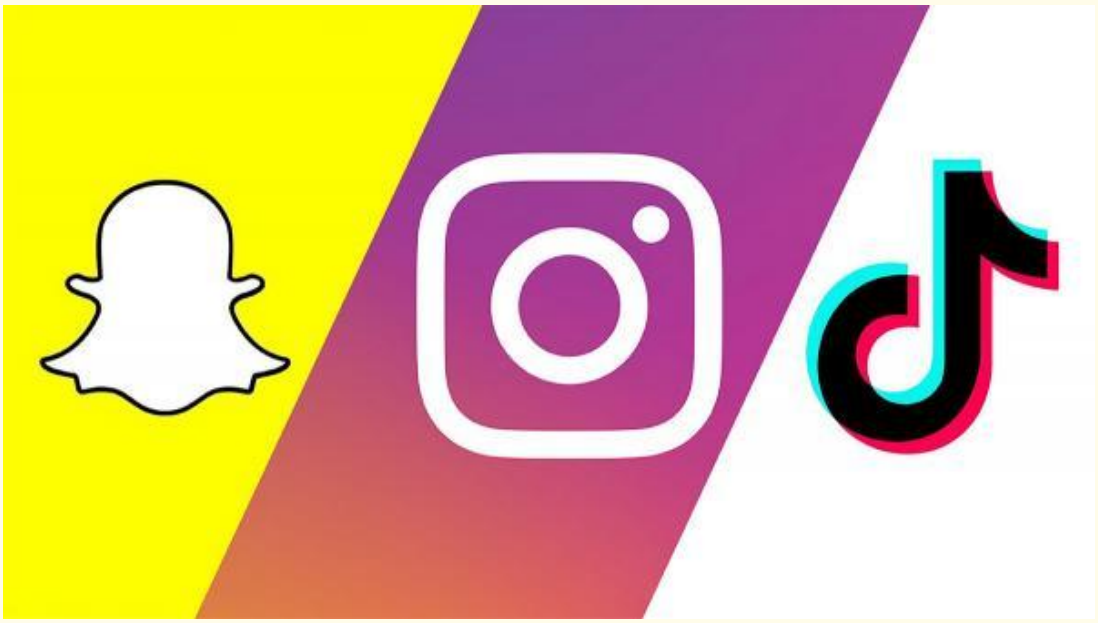

Current revenue sources include

- Native advertising
- Brand partnerships
- Creator collaborations

- Potential premium features in the future

Competition

Instagram

- Large user base and diverse content
- Content tends to be highly curated

Snapchat

- Focuses heavily on messaging and disappearing content

Tiktok

- Driven by algorithms and short-form videos

Threads

- Focused on text-based conversations

What makes Bereal unique?

- One post per day
- Random notification timing
- Front and back camera photos taken simultaneously
- No filters or heavy editing
- Focus on authenticity and close friends rather than influencers

Growth strategy

Summary and analysis

BeReal initially grew through word-of-mouth and strong adoption among Gen Z and college students. Since being acquired by Voodoo in 2024, the company has focused on expanding and monetizing the platform.

Recent strategies include:

- Launching advertising in the United States
- Building partnerships with creators and brands
- Providing businesses with engagement analytics
- Expanding internationally
- Releasing special features and campaigns around major events
